

IPC Swimming Classifier Pathway

Pathway Introduction

The IPC Academy, the education division of the International Paralympic Committee (IPC), in collaboration with IPC Swimming, has created an online programme for all people interested in learning about IPC Swimming, but in particular those interested in Swimming Classification (athletes with physical and intellectual impairments). The programme not only provides essential information about classification and how to classify athletes for IPC Swimming competitions, it also is a great information source for coaches, athletes and other people interested in this exciting sport.

IPC Swimming Classifier Pathway

The online learning programme provides an accessible way of education and training potential classifiers and is a mandatory part of the IPC Swimming International Classifier Pathway (see Figure – Stage 1 of the pathway).

Successful completion of the online learning programme, together with a detailed understanding of either the technical or medical aspects of Paralympic Swimming are required to progress on the Pathway (see Figure – Stage 1). IPC Swimming certifies 2 types of International Classifiers (for assessment of athletes with physical and intellectual impairment (sport-specific assessment part)), dependent on medical or technical qualification:

- Medical Classifiers: Candidates must submit copy of their professional qualification as physician or physiotherapist with their application.
- Technical Classifiers: Candidates must submit copy of their professional qualification as Bachelor or Master in Sports Science/Physical Education/Kinesiology/Human Movement Science (or equivalent), with major study area in swimming (Note: a qualification as coach or (former) athlete without the above professional qualification is no longer sufficient)

Adequate Knowledge of English is also required.

Individuals meeting the above criteria are then eligible to attend an on-site IPC Swimming Classification Programme. Upon successful completion of the programme individuals shall be awarded an IPC Swimming Trainee International Classifier status (Stage 2). These competency based programmes are run by certified IPC Swimming Classification Educators.

The final stage (Stage 3) is for an IPC Swimming Trainee International Classifier to undertake the Practicum component of the pathway where they are required to assist IPC Swimming Classification Panels whilst being mentored and observed by the IPC Swimming Classification Educator.

Subject to meeting all criteria the successful individuals are certified as an IPC Swimming International Classifier and are eligible to be appointed to International Classification Panels.

Pathway Structure

An IPC Swimming Classifier certification is valid for a period of four (4) years and an individual must maintain a certain level of activity within this time to retain the certification. An individual must attend further training to renew their certification for a further four (4) year term before the conclusion of the term.
